he people swarmed around the station to bid him welcome. After a hurried meal at the hotel, where he was joined by ex-Senstor Hill, he proceeded in a tarriage through a lane of red fire to the hall escorted by several marching tlubs with bands. His progress through the streets was made the becasion for a great demonstration.

In the course of the day Mr. Bryan made speeches at Hastings-on-Hudson, Tarrytown, Ossining, Peekskill, Cold Spring, Fishkill, Foughkeepsic, Rhineuiff, Hudson, Rensselaer, Schenectady and Troy. Everywhere along the line of travel immense crowds turned out in the rain to hear him. His reception at Schenectady was notable. Two of his three speeches there were made in the open to employes of the locomotive works and the General Electric Company.

We Sleep Too Much.

NEW YORK, October 28.—"I've had a delightful and busy time during my stay in New York," said Mr. Bryan before leaving here to-day, "and I have learned something. I have learned that we waste a great deal of time in sleep. Always before I had supposed that a man must have eight hours sleep a night, but I find that you New York-tra thrive on five hours."

"Do you expect to carry New York Biate?" he was asked.
"I certainly do. And I expect to State?" he was asked.

"I certainly do. And I expect to carry the entire Middle West, as well as some of the Eastern States. We will have enough and more. Nebraska is sure, and so, I think, is Ohio."

Speaks to Railroad Men. HASTINGS, N. Y., October 28.—In his speech here to-day to an audience of railroad men, Mr. Bryan charged that the Republicans had abandoned argument 'and now attempt to win this election by the use of a campaign fund, the source of which they refuse to Attention was also called by Mr. Bryan to the President's action in the campaign, and he got a nighty out-burst of applause when he said that in Europe a king could give the crown to his son, "but in America the President cannot give the executive chair to any one. That belongs to the people"

RENSSELAER, N. Y., October 28.—A targe crowd, including many railroad men stood in a heavy rain-storm toflay to hear Mr. Bryan speak. As he mounted the platform a workman held up a dinner pail and shouted: "Hello, Bill, here's an empty dinner pail."

The crowd cheered. Mr. Bryan disrussed the labor question.

"Style's seem to have changed." he remarked. "They are not wearing the unknown, and which, as an assurance of conduct, is unsatisfactory.

"We do know that the Republican party is committed to the gold standard, and that under no possible conditions would the free coinage of allver be recommended or permitted by Mr. Taft. There must be a reform of our banking system. Mr. Bryan's only contribution to this topic is to propose the guarantee of bank deposits, to make the careful, honest banker responsible for the doings of the banker who is careless, speculative and dishonest."

On the tariff, Sonator Lodge said the Democrats themselves did not know how far they would go, and "their victory would throw an uncertainty across the pathway of business which would hang like a pall over all business enterprises. Which of Mr. Bryan's policies in regard to corporations he would pursue if elected no one knows, and he might easily devise two or three more between now and the thiof March."

He concluded with a eulogy of the Republican presidential candidate. Senator Lodge received a round of cheers when he foretold the election

SARATOGA. N. Y., October 28.—
Fourteen special trains over trolley and steam roads throughout Saratoga county brought many Republican and steam roads throughout Saratoga county brought many Republican marching clubs here to-night to join in a big rally arranged for the Republican vice-presidential candidate, James S. Sherman, who spoke here, Despite a pouring rain the clubs paraded through the business sections of the town and cheered the candidate enthusiastically as he reviewed them.

Mr. Sherman arrived here to-night from New York City. At convention hall he was given a noisy reception by a large audience.

He reviewed the general issues of the campaign, devoting most of his argument to the tariff. The speaker challenged Mr. Bryan to declare his position before election day on the questions of silver and imperialism and other issues which Democracy's

At this juncture Governor Hughes appeared in the hall.
The crowd sprang to its feet, waving flass, and for sixteen minutes there was an upfoar. The excitement increased when Governor Hughes reached the platform. Men were standing on chairs throwing their hats into the air and shouting at the top of their voices. 'Hughes! Hughes!' rang from all parts of the big hall.
The Governor paid a tribute to Mr. Taft and then took up the issues of the State campaign.

While Governor Hughes was speaking cheers were heard outside, and Goorse A. Knight, of Calfornia, was introduced as the next speaker.

A negro woman arrived here to-day from Henderson looking for a horse and buggy that were stolen from her by Dan Lee, colored.

It developed that the thief brought the horse to John Griffin for $30. Griffin became suspicious and sold the animal to B. W. Keith, who is left to the fate of recovering only the reward of $10 offered by the owner. The thief also sold the buggy and harness for mere pittances before he "skipped out."

Interesting Case.

The new question of whether or not the original grantor of a right of way for a specific railroad is entitled to additional compensation for that right of way when the holders of the title use the land in question for other roads acquired by lease or otherwise, is involved in a suit just argued in the North Carolina Supreme Court. The suit is McCullock vs. North Carolina Railroad Company, now a part of the Southern system, and the right of way was granted to the North Carolina Railroad Company years ago and now used by the Southern system, and the right of way was granted to the North Carolina Railroad Company years ago and now used by the Southern as lessees of the North Carolina, Cape Fear and Yadkin Valley and other roads entering Greensboro in getting across to the union depot.
